Dumplings with Royal Baking Powder

No dessert is more delicious, wholesome and appetizing than a well-made dumpling, filled with the fruit of the season. By the use of the Royal Baking Powder the crust is always rendered light, flaky, tender and digestible. Dumplings made with it, baked or boiled, will be dainty and wholesome, and may be eaten steaming hot with perfect impunity.

Recipe.—One quart of flour; thoroughly mix with three teaspoons of Royal Baking Powder and a small teaspoon of salt; rub in a piece of butter or lard the size of an egg, and then add one cup of water, mixed with the flour; when the batter is well mixed, stir in milk and knead to the consistency of soft biscuit dough; break off pieces of dough large enough to close over four quarters of an apple (or other fruit as desired) without rolling, and lay in an earthen dish (for steaming) and steam until the fruit is tender. Bake if preferred.

In all receipts calling for cream of tartar and soda, substitute Royal Baking Powder. Less trouble, never fails, makes more appetizing and wholesome food, and is more economical. Royal Baking Powder is specially made for use in the preparation of the finest and most delicate cookery.

FOUND DEAD.

The Effect of Winnemucca Whisky on Maggie Hickey.

The Winnemucca Silver State of the 4th inst. says: Last Saturday Ah Long, a Chinese vegetable peddler, opened the door of the residence of a woman known as Maggie Hickey or Holden and saw a woman lying on the floor. He went to the residence of Mrs. Brown and reported what he saw. Mrs. Brown reported the circumstances to Public Administrator Walker, and he went to the place indicated by the Chinaman and found the lifeless body of Mrs. Hickey on the floor, stark and stiff. He implored a jury and held an inquest on the body. Several witnesses were examined and as far as could be ascertained the woman was last seen alive about 10 o'clock Thursday night. Mrs. Hanson and Cartwright gave it as their opinion that the woman had been dead for at least twenty-four hours, and that death resulted from apoplexy caused by chronic alcoholism. The jury found that deceased was named Maggie Hickey or Holden, aged about 45 years, nativity unknown, and that she came to her death at Winnemucca, Humboldt county, Nevada, on the 1st day of November, 1889, through chronic alcoholism.

STATE ELECTIONS.

Mahone Badly Knocked Out.

HARD FOUGHT SLUGGING MATCH.

The Southern Exposition Opened by Harrison.

The Prince of Wales Taking an Egyptian Trip.

TO-DAY'S ELECTIONS.

The Australian system in Massachusetts.

Boston, Nov. 5.—The weather in Massachusetts is cloudy and cold, with a prospect of an average vote. The Australian system is reported as working well.

Reports from all parts of the State show that the Australian system is working well, and to a large extent has eliminated the "heeler" element from around the polls. The votes are deposited as rapidly as under the old system.

New York.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—The great bulk of the vote in this city seems to have been polled before 10 o'clock. The politicians are all at sea as to the result, as the "vest pocket" vote is larger than even before known. The indications are that Tabor and Wemple, on the Democratic State ticket, will run considerably behind.

The weather throughout the State is generally fair and cool. Reports show an average off-year vote. Everything in this city is very quiet, and a large amount of scratching is reported.

Pennsylvania.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 5.—A light vote is being polled. No disturbances have been reported. The weather is cloudy and cool.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 5.—It is clear and cool generally throughout Pennsylvania. A light vote is being polled.

Ohio.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 5.—There is unusually fine weather in this city and county. The polls close at 4 p. m., hence a very large vote was cast in the morning, beginning at 6 o'clock. In all the precincts heard from at 10 A. M. fully two-thirds of the entire registered vote had been cast. So far it has been entirely free from disorder.

The Times-Star says Governor Foraker is holding his own in spite of the bitter fight against him.

The Post (Independent) says there are five Republican ticket holders to one Democratic throughout the city. The scratching of the Republican ticket in the German wards is confined to Foraker.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 5.—A heavy vote is polled. Foraker is being scratched, but not to the extent anticipated by the Democrats.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 5.—The Republicans were encouraged this morning by reports of fair weather in northern Ohio. At Republican headquarters in this city it was estimated that the absence of rain meant from 2,500 to 3,000 Republican votes on the Western Reserve.

Virginia.

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 5.—The weather is fair and pleasant. The election is progressing quietly and actively. Three negroes were arrested in the act of putting double tickets in the box. The indications are that the Democrats will make decided gains over last fall in Norfolk and Portsmouth.

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 5.—The weather opened cloudy and cool. The indications are that a full vote is being polled throughout the State. In this city, while the Democrats have been voting steadily, the negroes have not as yet turned out in their usual strength, contrary to the expectations of many. Up to noon, no trouble had occurred. Both parties claim a victory.

DANVILLE, Va., Nov. 5.—The weather is clear and balmy and the voting lively. The whites are for McKinney and the negroes for Mahone, almost to a man. Several negroes were arrested for trying to vote double ballots. One negro attempted to vote a batch of six tickets folded into one. All is quiet.

RICHMOND, Nov. 5.—Specials say the largest vote ever polled is being cast in Petersburg. Some negroes are voting the Democratic ticket. The Democrats are making large gains in Fredericksburg.

B. T. McCue, one of the most prominent leaders in Henrico county, was arrested about noon, charged with interfering with the judges of election.

ALEXANDRIA, NOV. 5.—

Illinois.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—The weather is cool and cloudy and a very light vote is being cast. Only minor county officers and two Judgeships are at stake.

New Jersey.

JERSEY CITY, Nov. 5.—An unusually heavy vote is being polled, and both sides claim the victory. The Democrats are especially jubilant, and say that Abbott is surely elected Governor.

Earthquake Festival.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Nov. 5.—Charleston's great earthquake festival opened yesterday. The buildings were bedecked with flags and bunting from one end of the city to the other. A hundred thousand United States flags were displayed and not a Confederate flag was in sight. King street last night presented a fairy picture with triumphal arches, illuminations of show windows, swinging Chinese lanterns, gay throngs of sightseers, bands of music and military parades, both white and colored. There was a grand pyrotechnic display on Colonial Lake, with a mimic attack of the Federal fleet on Fort Sumpter.

A Rapid Slugging Match.

NEWBURGH, N. Y., Nov. 5.—One of the hardest fought fights in years was fought this morning at Highland Falls between Jim Daly of Philadelphia and Bill Gabig of Pittsburgh. It was fierce and fast from the start to the finish. After the first few rounds everything was in Daly's favor. The battle lasted eleven rounds, when Daly knocked Gabig out. Daly broke his left hand on his opponent's head in the ninth round.

A Final Pardon.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—The President has pardoned John Kimball, convicted of violating the postal laws, and sentenced in May, 1882, to imprisonment at hard labor for two years. Kimball is a son of Gen. Nathan Kimball, Postmaster at Ogden, Utah, and although convicted and sentenced over seven years ago, he has never been imprisoned for the reason that the execution of his sentence was suspended.

Willing to Arbitrate.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—A meeting of the Master Lightmen was held to-day to consider the demands of the striking employees. The conviction was expressed that a long strike would be ruinous to the port. Seventeen firms have conceded to the terms demanded. The men are willing for the Lord Mayor and Cardinal Manning to intervene for a settlement.

To Be Started by Harrison.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 5.—The Southern Exposition will open to-day. The machinery will be put in motion at noon to-day by President Harrison, who will touch the key of a wire in Washington which will be connected with the machinery hall here.

Witnessing To-day's Election.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 5.—The All-Americans visited the beautiful suburb of Clifton this morning. After visiting a number of manufacturing, they broke into squads and visited the polling places and saw the manner of holding elections.

Proposed Colored League.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Thomas Fortune (colored) has issued a call to the members of the Afro-American Leagues throughout the country to meet in convention at Nashville on January 15th next for the purpose of forming a National League.

At a Way Station.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Nothing has developed at the State Department respecting the case of ex-State Treasurer Burke of Louisiana, although one of the officials said to-day that he heard a report that Burke was on his way to Honduras.

The Sultan Decorated.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 5.—Emperor William will sail for Venice to-morrow. The Sultan gave a banquet last night in honor of the Emperor and Empress. Emperor William conferred the decoration of the Hohenzollern family upon the Sultan.

The Clericals Defeated.

ROME, Nov. 5.—The municipal elections throughout Italy, on Sunday, resulted in victories for the Liberals and Radicals and defeats for the Clericals.

Adjourned Over.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—In order to be safe against errors, to-day being a legal holiday, Judge McConnell again adjourned the Crokin case till to-morrow.

ITALIAN ELECTION.

Dennis Oulihan of California Dead.

A LONDON LABORER'S STRIKE.

An Earthquake Festival at Charleston.

Further Proceedings of the Parnell Commission.

Parnell Commission.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—Sir Henry James continued his speech for the Times before the Parnell Commission to-day. He declared that Parnellism was a conspiracy to destroy landlordism and rupture Great Britain and Ireland. Parnell's last visit to America was ostensibly to collect money for the relief of distress in Ireland, but really to procure funds to support the treasonable aims of the League; that Parnell appealed for assistance to men well-known as plotters against the British Government.

Boxing Contest.

TORONTO, Nov. 5.—The boxing contest between Jake Kilrain and John F. Scholes of this city last night was witnessed by 1,000 people. There were four rounds, Queensberry rules. Scholes was in first-class condition, but Kilrain was very fat. Kilrain was on the defensive most of the time, and the general impression was that Kilrain did not exert himself.

Death of an Ex-State Officer.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—Ex-State Treasurer Dennis J. Oulihan died at the Occidental Hotel at 10 o'clock this morning. He caught cold four months ago just after undergoing a severe surgical operation and had been ill since then. Fatal symptoms developed a few weeks ago, and his children have been with him at the Occidental Hotel since that time.

Conservatives Shocked.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—The Freshly of New York met yesterday, and in reply to an overture from General Assembly, by a decided vote, they declared in favor of a thorough revision of the constitution of the state. Some of the conservative members were shocked by the freedom with which the present constitution was attacked.

The Prince of Wales in Egypt.

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, Nov. 5.—The Prince of Wales sailed on the royal yacht Osborn for Piracus to-day. Upon his arrival at Alexandria from Cairo, he received an ovation. The streets were decorated with garlands, flags and triumphal arches.

A Storekeeper's Appointment.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—The Secretary of the Treasury has appointed C. W. Brunton Internal Revenue Storekeeper of the First California District.

A Terrible Scourge.

MIDDLETON, N. Y., Nov. 5.—The public schools were closed yesterday, owing to the prevalence of diphtheria.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

To be on Thursday, November the 28th.

President Harrison has issued the following proclamation:

"Our highly favored people, mindful of their dependence on the bounty of Divine Providence, should seek a fitting occasion to testify their gratitude and ascribe praise to Him who is the author of their many blessings."

"It behooves them to look back with thankful hearts over the past year and to bless God for his infinite mercy in vouchsafing to our land enduring peace, to our people freedom from pestilence and famine, to our husbandmen abundant harvest, and to them who labor, the recompense of their toil."

"Now, therefore, I, Benjamin Harrison, President of the United States of America, do earnestly recommend Thursday, the 28th day of this present month of November, be set apart as a day of National thanksgiving and prayer, and the people of our country, ceasing from the cares and labors of the working days, shall assemble in their respective places of worship and give thanks to God, who has prospered us on our way and made our paths the paths of peace, beseeching him to bless the day to our present and future good, making it truly one of thanksgiving for each reunited home-circle as a nation at large."

"In witness I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed."

IN RUSSAK'S PLACE

A Bold Man From San Francisco.

A. W. Von Schmidt, who signs himself "President of the Lake Tahoe and San Francisco Water Company," with the air of a man destined to be great, sends the GAZETTE the following letter, which explains itself:

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29, 1889.
EDITOR GAZETTE: I noticed in the Alta California of the 25th inst. an article taken from your paper, headed, "A Friend Indeed." It refers to F. G. Newlands' great kindness and liberality to bring the waters of Lake Tahoe and other lakes to the arid lands. Now, on the face of his offer it does look very kind. Don't you know that this kindness is prompted by his spring Valley Water Company of this city. He represents the interest of the late William Sharon, which is the controlling interest. Further, everybody knows that knows anything about Tahoe and the Truckee river that the Lake Tahoe and San Francisco Water Works have for years had a dam at the outlet of the lake, and another three miles below the first. Now, what good can come out of Mr. Newlands' offer if he puts a dam in above mine? My dam was put there for the same purpose of storing the water in the lake. Whatever Mr. Newlands' made cannot take away the rights of the Lake Tahoe and San Francisco Water Works. Yours, respectfully,
A. W. VON SCHMIDT,
President of Lake Tahoe and San Francisco Water Works.

In order to set at rest the mind of the great would-be water appropriator, we have interviewed Mr. Newlands, as appears in another column, and can state positively that neither the Sharon estate nor Mr. Newlands own any controlling interest in the Spring Valley Water Works, nor any interest sufficiently large to control his action. Mr. Newlands came to Nevada, and soon saw that our possibilities were great; that money invested in an irrigation scheme on the Truckee river promised good returns. He saw that the Spring floods were going to waste, and if properly stored could be utilized and make productive a large area of land now utterly worthless; and, with an honest purpose to not only help the people of a State that had added so much wealth to the estate of which he is Trustee, but to enable him to invest largely for the estate and get what he considers good interest on the investment, he took hold of the question with an energy that proved he meant to solve the problem. He bought the land at the outlet of Cold Stream and at Donner Lake, which he holds in trust for this community. He advanced the money to make this purchase, with the understanding that it should be decided to the county or State on his receiving the amount of his investment, together with six per cent. interest. He immediately started negotiations for the land at the outlet of the Truckee at Tahoe with the same understanding. Nevada, suffering for the want of water, hailed Mr. Newland's proposition with delight, for they saw a ready solution of the perplexing question. But no sooner is the proposition made known than Von Schmidt comes to the front with his San Francisco water scheme of fifteen years ago and says "it is mine," but by what right he claims it the GAZETTE is unable to see. If he ever had any right to the water of Tahoe, which we doubt very much, that right certainly lapsed when he failed to appropriate the water at the time he built his dam. The dams in question have been built for fifteen years, so long in fact that they have almost rotted down, and now comes the boss water grabber of the nineteenth century and proposes to rob Nevada of her rights by taking it to San Francisco.

If Von Schmidt, or anyone else, should ever attempt to carry out the plan proposed it would lead to an insurrection, for the people of this State would die fighting for their rights before they would see the water of Tahoe diverted from its natural outlet and taken away from them.

Mr. Von Schmidt was kind enough to send us his "prospectus" submitted to the Hon. Mayor and Board of Supervisors of the city and county of San Francisco, one paragraph of which reads as follows: "Independent of the lakes there are several creeks and streams which the company could draw from during the rainy season, and while the snow is melting in the spring of the year, namely: Bear creek, Squaw Valley creek, Deer and Hardserable creeks, all of which are on the east side of the mountains and are tributaries to the Truckee river below the lake." So it would seem that this very greedy individual would not only rob us of the waters of the lake, but also take all that is tributary to the Truckee river besides.

The scheme is visionary and impracticable at best and we do not believe will ever be seriously considered by San Francisco.

BREVITIES.

Local and General Intelligence.
Go to Lange & Schmidt for skates—the largest assortment in the State.

Yesterday John Irwin sold 140 tons of alfalfa hay raised on the Poor ranch, to Grayson, Owen & Co. of Oakland, for $7 per ton.

The Carson Tribune says that W. H. Crisler gathered a ton of plums from two trees in his yard. Isn't that a good many plums?

From the mammoth stock of clothing carried by the White House, there is no trouble about finding a perfect fit for the largest man or the smallest boy.

Deputy Sheriff J. L. Triplett arrived from Elko last evening with E. S. Kendrick, who he takes to the State Prison to serve a life sentence for murder in the second degree.

The habit of certain ill-bred youths of securing front seats at public entertainments and then climb over benches to go out during the exercises, is very annoying to those possessed of some sense of decency and propriety.

AT THE OPERA HOUSE.

"Davy Crockett" to be Presented by Frank Mayo.

The New York Herald recently said of Frank Mayo's "Davy Crockett": "Davy Crockett, strong in the conviction of his rectitude, went ahead last night as he has been doing for a number of years, and did not lag until he had won the warmest approbation of a packed house at the People's Theater. It was manifest that the buckskins, the bass voice, and the manly physique of Frank Mayo exercise a glamour to which the play-goer is still keenly susceptible. The lighter passages of the backwoodsman's courtship excited the risibilities of last night's audience to a pitch little short of hysterical, and at the vulpine episode they fairly rose and launched a volley of bravos at the actor's bared and brawny arm. All the forests and cabins exhibited last night were freshly and carefully painted, and genuine leaves scattered over the stage served to heighten the illusion of rusticity. To be presented at McKissick's Opera House on Saturday evening, the 9th inst.

ADVICE FROM BELOW-TAIRS.

"Bridget, I would give all my wealth for half of your health."
"Sure, ma'am, you need only give $5, for that's the price of six bottles of J. V. S., as the boys call it. Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla will make you as strong as me, ma'am."
Mrs. J. Barron, of 145 Seventh street, San Francisco, writes: "I have been taking Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla with immense benefit. It is perfectly splendid to build up nervous run-down and worn out women." Mrs. Fred Loy, of 227 Ellis street, Mrs. G. Werner of 223 Berry street, and hundreds of others relate the same experience with the true vegetable Sarsaparilla of this California compound.

OPERA HOUSE

DRY GOODS STORE.

Fall * Announcements!

IT IS NOW GENERALLY CONCEDED BY MEN OF SCIENCE who attend to all the weather experiment stations on this coast that this locality in particular is going to be very cold this winter. In consequence of these indications,

C. W. BOOTON

Went to San Francisco and spent the past two weeks purchasing a

Stock of Fall and Winter Goods,

The giganticness of which cannot be fully realized in any way but by calling to see it at the OPERA HOUSE DRY GOODS STORE, and will only say that the

Prices at which he intends to sell his new stock will be unprecedented

In the history of dry goods in Reno, as "Quick Sales and Small Profits" is his motto in business.

To enumerate his stock and give it entire justice he should have all the columns of a newspaper devoted to his advertisement only, but as he cannot get any more room in the columns of this paper, he will only enumerate some of his special heavy importations. First—His stock of

Men's Underwear

At the following prices, note them:

20 dozen of men's white merino shirts and drawers at 35c each, regular price, 75 cents.
31 dozen of men's silver grey shirts and drawers at 75c each, regular price, $1.00.
49 dozen of men's shirts and drawers, California grey, at $1.00 each, regular price, $2.00.
52 dozen Virginia & Truckee shirts and drawers, all-wool, at $1.50 each.
These goods are of special value and sell on sight. See these.
33 1/2 dozen extra heavy shirts and drawers, Oregon Mills manufacture, at $2.00 each. These goods would be counted cheap at $3.
35 dozen Norfolk and New Brunswick brown vicuna at $2.50 each generally sold for $3.50 each.
50 dozen men's seamless Rockford socks at $1.50 per dozen that are being sold everywhere in this city for $3.00 per dozen.

In all grades. In the

Comforter and Blanket Line

It is well known he is headquarters for those goods. Comforters ranging in price from $1.00 to $5.00 each. Golden Gate white and colored blankets are a specialty.

In the Clothing Department

He carries a complete and well-selected stock. Note a few of his specialties in this line, viz: 25 suits of men's, all-wool, English colored corkscrew, custom-made at only $20.00 a suit, usually retailed for $35. A fine line of black corkscrew suits at $20.00. A fine line of mixed English cheviot suits at $18.00. A very fine line of black corkscrew suits at $12.50 a suit. The usual price asked for these goods in the city is $17.00

A Large Assortment of Hats and Caps

Always on Hand.

In the Dress Goods Department

He has added a fine and well-selected stock of all the leading shades of French armures, French broadsides and English chevots, which are offered at prices that defy competition.

In the Shoe Department

It is well known that he is the only agent in this city for the Famous Nolan Brothers' Shoes.

He has also in stock Cahn, Nickleburg & Co.'s fine shoes, whose make are now very popular.

Calicoes and Gingham

In Endless Variety.

Having purchased the above goods for CASH ONLY, is a sure guarantee that he can sell goods at a lower price than any house that purchases goods on long time.

Opera House One-Price Cash Dry Goods Store,

C. W. BOOTON, - Proprietor.

JOTTINGS.

No passenger train is ever missed by that comfortable and stylish Riverside Hotel bus.

C. J. Brookins' variety store is where you can always find the best variety of candies ever offered in this market.

These cool nights should prompt you to order a few cords of J. F. Allen's dry firwood, or a few tons of his $13 hard coal.

Both steel and pencil erasers, writing and drawing pencils, school slates and walking canes of all sizes at C. A. Thurston's new depot.

If you are looking for a palatable noon lunch, go to J. J. Becker's Chicago Saloon where it is to be had both Bona and Sacramento beer.

R. Herz, the popular watch-maker and jeweler is carrying a stock of goods in his line which would be hard to find in a city ten times the size of Reno.

Not being a candidate for office, gives George Becker a plenty of time to attend to the wants of all cash patrons, and he is not looking for any other kind.

The best cube and granulated sugar, the best syrups; fine Nevada honey and maple syrup at E. C. Leadbetter's. Here is where you will find goods that are fresh.

Miss C. F. Moore's class in the new decorative art work is rapidly increasing. As this opportunity for learning fine fancy work comes only once in a while, it is best to embrace it while here.

Epoch.

The transition from long, lingering and painful sickness to robust health marks an epoch in the life of the individual. Such a remarkable event is treasured in the memory and the agency whereby the good health has been attained is gratefully blessed. Hence it is that much is heard in praise of Electric Bitters. So many feel they owe their restoration to health to the use of Great Alterative and Tonic. If you are troubled with any disease of the Kidneys or Liver or Stomach, of long or short standing you will surely find relief by the use of Electric Bitters. Sold at 50c and $1 per bottle at Hodgkinson's drug store.

Croup Can Be Prevented.

We want every mother to know that croup can be prevented. There is no question about this; as it has been done in thousands of cases, and you may depend upon it that when a child takes the croup, it is owing to the negligence of its parents. True, croup never appears without due and timely warning; a few hours, or a day before the attack, the child becomes hoarse. This hoarseness is the first indication of croup, and is a sure sign that croup is to follow, unless promptly and properly treated. The free use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as directed with each bottle, under the heading "To prevent croup," will dispel all symptoms of the disease. For sale by Osburn & Shoemaker.

Their Business Booming.

Probably no one thing has caused such a general revival of trade at Hodgkinson's drug store as their giving away to their customers of so many free trial bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Their trade is simply enormous in this very valuable article from the fact that it always cures and never disappoints. Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, croup and all throat and lung diseases quickly cured. You can test it before buying by getting a trial bottle free; large size, $1. Every bottle warranted.

The Best There Is.

A new typewriter has been invented by the party who invented half of the Remington and all of the Caligraph. It has no ribbon, no wooden bars, but is all steel, prints true and without any blur. It costs an even hundred dollars, and is worth two of any other machine. It prints better, wears longer, is easier to learn and works faster, besides other recommendations. C. A. BRAGG, Agent.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, oozes, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, chapped hands, chilblains, corns and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay returned. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Hodgkinson & Co., druggists.

There is but little, if any danger from whooping cough, when the cough is kept loose and expectoration easy, which can always be done by the free use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. There is no danger in giving it to children as it contains no injurious substance. For sale by Osburn & Shoemaker.

THE VON SCHMIDT SCHEME.

Mr. Newlands was shown the letter from A. W. Von Schmidt which appears in another column and his attention was called to that part of it which charges that Mr. Newlands' interest in the question of storage of water on the headwaters of the Truckee is prompted by the fact that the estate of William Sharon owns a controlling interest in the Spring Valley Water Works of San Francisco.

Mr. Newlands said: Mr. Von Schmidt is mistaken in his statement. The estate of Mr. Sharon does not own a controlling interest in Spring Valley. The stock of the company consists of 100,000 shares. The estate owns less than 1,000 shares—about 400, I think—and is not represented by a single director in the company. Many years ago Mr. Sharon and Charles Webb Howard owned the control, but they gradually sold a large portion of their stock, and about 1880 divided what remained. Mr. Sharon continued his sales and the trustees did also after Mr. Sharon's death, until the holding of the estate was reduced to about 400 shares.

Mr. Von Schmidt's letter would indicate that Spring Valley is concerned about his scheme. I was the counsel of Spring Valley for many years, when all kinds of schemes for supplying San Francisco with water were being considered by the municipality, and I know that the Tahoe scheme was regarded by the company with indifference. Any reflecting man would, in a moment, stamp it as chimerical. Think of going to the eastern slope of the Sierra Nevada to tap a small stream—the Truckee—whose waters are already appropriated for power, by boom companies, lumber mills, planing mills, furniture manufacturers, both in California and Nevada, by the town of Reno, Nev., for water supply and power and by forty ditches for irrigation along the Truckee river, when there are numerous mountain streams on the western slope of the Sierra Nevada, much nearer to San Francisco and greater in volume.

Think of the folly of bringing water 200 miles to supply a city, when there is a perfect system of water works, with sources of supply—reservoir and pipe lines capable of meeting all the future wants of San Francisco, within a radius of forty miles of the city—and the waters caught in the Coast Range of mountains and stored in immense storage reservoirs already built and in process of construction. The sources of supply of Spring Valley have not been half utilized as yet. The Crystal Springs dam is not completed. It will be 100 feet high and will cost $2,000,000. San Geronimo and Turisima creeks, two affluent mountain streams of the Coast Range, are to be led into this immense reservoir, as well as the water falling on its own water shed. Calaveras has not yet been fully utilized. When the reservoir is complete it will receive water from 175 square miles of water shed. You can rest assured that the Spring Valley system—complete, compact, within easy reach and easily controlled—will continue to supply San Francisco till it reaches a population of 2,000,000 people, though it may be that the ownership will be transferred from a private company to the municipality itself.

Von Schmidt's scheme contemplates first, conveying the water through a tunnel and canal about eighty miles to Newcastle, on the Central Pacific Railroad, and thence by pipe to San Francisco, 122 miles. If only one pipe is used, what is to be done in case of a landslide or a break in the pipe? Spring Valley deems it necessary to have three large pipe lines connecting the main works with the city, so that in case of accident to one its place can be supplied by the others. Then Von Schmidt's scheme contemplates only the delivery of the water in a reservoir near the city. Where will he find a reservoir site within forty miles of San Francisco that is not already owned by the Spring Valley Water Company? I undertake to say that he will not find one. The peculiar system of water works belonging to Spring Valley embraces every available reservoir site—Pillarcitos Lake, at an elevation of over 600 feet; San Andreas, about 400 feet; Crystal Springs Lake, about 300 feet—and then on the other side of the bay is Calaveras reservoir, near Miles Station, the only available large reservoir site in Alameda county. Then come the eight or ten distributing reservoirs on the tops of the hills in San Francisco. I undertake to say that if thickly built up as the city now is, it would be almost impossible to procure such reservoir sites for a new water works. I say further that if the waters of Lake Tahoe were brought within thirty miles of San Francisco, it would be impossible to utilize them, except by through the present Spring Valley system of storage and distribution.

But even if the scheme is practicable from an engineering point of view, how can Von Schmidt get the waters of Lake Tahoe? In his circular, Von Schmidt claims that his company has a dam at the outlet of Lake Tahoe. This is not correct. The dam there belongs to the Donner Boom Co., which is engaged in booming logs down the Truckee river to the mills below. Von Schmidt's dam is below this on the Truckee river. When I first undertook the study of the storage question, and before Von Schmidt's recent proposal to bring the Tahoe waters to San Francisco, I visited this dam—in December last. The gate was open and there was not a stream of five hundred inches passing through. I was at Truckee, ten miles below Von Schmidt's dam, and the entire flow of the Truckee river at that point was not sufficient to run the box factory at Truckee. How much water would Von Schmidt's dam divert at such times for San Francisco? But he says he will store it in Tahoe. How can he? The land and dam at the outlet do not belong to Von Schmidt's company, but do belong to the Donner Boom Company, which stores the water for use below. There has been great scarcity of water on the Truckee river for two years. The various interests there find it necessary to store water in Tahoe in order to satisfy existing appropriations for mill and manu-

In conclusion Mr. Newlands remarked that State feeling should not be regarded in these matters, but that it was proper that every locality should enjoy the advantages within its reach; that Nature had designed the Truckee, the Carson, the Walker and the Owens rivers with their headwaters for the use of the people living on the eastern slope of the Sierra Nevada, including the people of both Eastern California and Nevada, and had designed the Sacramento, Feather, American, Stanislaus, Tuolumne, San Joaquin, Kings and Kern rivers for those living on the western slope in California, and that the people of Nevada in their struggle for the rights which nature had given them would ultimately be successful. Tahoe's water will never go to San Francisco. It is not needed there. It is needed here.

NEVADA STATE UNIVERSITY.

Resignation of President LeRoy D. Brown.

At the meeting last night of the Board of Regents of the State University it was decided that the best interest of the University would be served in asking for the resignation of President Brown. This was done accordingly and the resignation was received and accepted, to take effect January 1, 1890. At the general assembly of the faculty and students at noon to-day, President Brown delivered his valedictory, maintaining that he had worked zealously for the interest of the students and the University, but that for the best interest of all concerned he thought it best that his resignation should be tendered. Regent Coffin made a few pointed remarks in which he asked the patient support of the Students to the faculty in carrying on the additional work thus thrust upon them.

The Gazette has every confidence in the members of the faculty left in charge of the University and every reason to believe that all will work in harmony to uplift and maintain the institution thus left in their charge, and that no harm will befall it because of the vacancy created in the teaching force by the resignation of the President.

A GROWING ORDER.

Institution of Washington Lodge No. 25, A. O. U. W.

On Thursday evening, October 31st, James B. Caine, D. D. G. M. W., assisted by Brothers E. Taylor as P. G. M. W., Frank Bell as Grand Foreman, R. W. White as Grand Overseer, J. B. Rafferty as Grand Recorder, R. F. Bancel as Grand Guide, and Chas. McHugh as Grand I. Watch, instituted Washington Lodge No. 25, A. O. U. W., in Reno, with twenty-nine charter members—as good a showing as any lodge ever made in Reno. The charter members consist of the best material in Reno, and we predict a bright future for the new lodge in the great Order of A. O. U. W.

The following officers were duly elected and installed: John M. Fulton, P. M. W.; B. C. Shearer, Master Workman; E. C. Gladwin, Foreman; W. T. Sedgwick, Overseer; H. J. Berry, Recorder; I. N. Bakelies, Financial; Ed. Schmitt, Receiver; T. B. Holmes, Guide; T. J. Leahy, Inside Watch; S. T. Taylor, Outside Watch; E. T. Phillips M. D., Medical Examiner.

Their meeting nights will be Thursday, and already quite a number of new applications for membership have been made. The newly elected officers are well up in their work and invite all members of the order to visit the lodge and assist them.

Has Bought a Home.

Prof. Devoil has purchased of M. Hawcroft the fine property on the corner of Fifth and Nevada streets. The Professor has been living in this house and finds it as desirable a location as can be obtained, hence his conclusion to make it his permanent home.

Stock Shipments.

Seventeen cars of cattle, loaded at Deeth by Grayson, Owen & Co., were unloaded here to-day to rest and be fed, and 25 cars which had been unloaded here were forwarded to Oakland and San Francisco.

An Important Water Suit.

The preliminary proceedings in the great water suit between the Union Mill & Mining Company and the Carson Valley ranchers were commenced in the U. S. District Court at Carson yesterday.

Funeral Notice.

The funeral of A. McIntosh will take place from the Congregational Church to-morrow (Wednesday) afternoon at 2 o'clock. Friends and acquaintances are respectfully invited to attend.

Among the incidents of childhood that stand out in bold relief, as our memory reverts to the days when we were young, none are more prominent than those of sickness. The young mother vividly remembers that it was Chamberlain's Cough Remedy cured her of the croup and in turn administered it to her own offspring and always with the best success. For sale by Osburn & Shoemaker.

Advice to Mothers.

FOR LIFE OR DEATH.

How a Cholera-Stricken Soldier Obtained a Drink in India.

I came to India in 1850—as a private in the 1st regiment and my company formed part of the garrison at Arcot, says a writer in Blackwood's Magazine. Life in barracks in India is very dull, and it was with great satisfaction that we heard an order had been given for our company to march to Vellore to strengthen the garrison there, which had been very much reduced by cholera.

It was then about the middle of March, and consequently later than is usual for moving troops, as the days begin to get very hot on the plains in the Carnatic about that time of the year. But ours was special duty, and as we should only march in the very early morning, we did not fear the inconvenience of the mid-day heat.

It was on the second day after leaving Arcot that, late in the afternoon, I was listening to a description of Vellore by one of our fellows who had been there, when suddenly I felt spasms and sickness.

"Hollo! old fellow, how blue you look!" remarked a companion sitting next to me, and as he spoke my comrades shrank terror-stricken from me. It needed no doctor to tell what was the matter. The cholera had seized me!

I was hastily conveyed to the temporary hospital, where our assistant surgeon already had several cases of the disease under treatment, and I was laid on a charpoy. I rapidly passed from the first to the second stage of that malady, and by nine o'clock at night the incessant vomiting and purging had reduced me to a condition of weakness approaching insensibility. I was consumed by a burning, raging thirst, but the dresser disregarded all my entreaties for a drink of water. The system of treatment for cholera in those days allowed the patient nothing more than a cordial of brandy and water, and this simply aggravated the torture of thirst. Nowadays champagne is given, and the sufferer is allowed to drink pretty freely.

The hospital was, of course, only a pandal, hastily constructed with the grave-mounds, with a large cuscus-mat at the entrance at each end. Two large chatties of water were placed just outside each entrance.

I had begged, sworn and menaced at intervals, but no one paid the slightest heed. I lay in a agony, and sinking into that condition of torpor which is the immediate precursor of the third and fatal stage of cholera, when I heard voices in the pandal. The assistant surgeon was making his last round for the night, accompanied by the hospital-dresser, and a violent effort I made myself and eagerly listened for their approach. I wanted to hear my fate pronounced.

They stopped at length where I lay, and the doctor examined my body.

"Mottled," I heard him remark to the dresser: "he is insensible already, and will not last long. No Waterfall will make six!"

"Make six!" I said to myself; "make six what? Six corpses, of course, for burial at daylight to-morrow morning."

They had gone and the place was in darkness, save for the glimmer of a coconut oil lamp. I heard the scorching of mummities just outside, made by the camp-followers, who were digging a common grave for six of us.

I felt utterly stunned and quite indifferent as to my fate. My tongue was like a piece of dry leather in my mouth, which had long since ceased to yield any saliva to relieve the agonizing burning of my throat and palate. I could not have made any sound had I attempted to do so, but I did not try, for the attendants were all stretched on the ground asleep. I felt I was deserted—left to die.

I was beginning to wander, I think, and was back again in the bright, green, English meadows, picking daisies with my little sister, and so I should have passed away. But just at that moment, the coolies, who had finished digging the grave—my grave—passed the entrance of the pandal; and one of them threw a pailful of water on the matting screen.

It was like a galvanic shock to me. I resolved to have a drink at any risk. I had to do, so what matter if I hastened my death an hour or two by drinking cold water!

I tried to get up, but I was too weak to stand, and fell down at once. Then I reflected that I was more likely to be seen if I walked, and if detected in my attempt I should be brought back and perhaps be strapped down to die. So I tried to crawl. I was about ten minutes dragging myself from my cot to the entrance, and I wriggled under the screen.

There were the chatties before me! The first I seized was empty, and the disappointment nearly made me swoon; but the second was brimful. I threw my arms around it and dragged myself to it. I plunged my head into the delicious, limpid water, and devoured, rather than drank, huge mouthfuls of the cool and heavenly fluid. I felt my stomach swelling with the enormous draught. I swallowed; but I laughed and drank again and again. I reeled naught of life or death then.

At length I could drink no more, and then discipline asserted itself. I knew I had no right to be out there, and I thought if I were missed from my cot I should be reported. So I crept back the way I had come, and shortly after fell into a profound sleep.

It was broad daylight when I awoke and saw the assistant surgeon and dresser standing beside me.

"How is this?" asked the doctor; "Wetherell ought to have been dead!"

"Please, sir," said I, "I am feeling much better, and have no wish to make the sixth this morning."

"There were six without you," said the doctor, sadly.

I rapidly recovered; and as I had never indulged in the pernicious country arrack sold to soldiers out here, I was soon quite strong again. But it was some time before I told any one how I recovered from my attack of cholera. However, I told the doctor one day all about it, and though he said the cold water ought to have killed me, I observed the poor fellows who were in hospital with cholera got an extra allowance of water.

MEN WITH LONG HAIR.

St. Paul held that it was a shame to a man to wear his hair long, and so he tells the Corinthians in his first epistle to them. On the other hand, Hygieus, patriarch of Jerusalem, A. D. 600, declares the outward visible signs of manly perfection to consist in an ample beard and in hair flowing down the shoulders. In remote ages the Persians, who now have their heads shaved, wore long hair. Darius had a most luxuriant poll, and Alexander, who conquered him, probably paid few visits to the hair-cutter's in the course of his life. Alcibiades and his clique of rouses introduced the effeminate fashion of hair into Greece. Before their time the Athenians wore roundheads, and it is fair to presume that Aristotle, the just, who did but pride himself above measure on his devotion to the graces, sported a good crop of bristles and ignored a comb.

Herodotus relates that in token of mourning the Persians were wont to cut off not only their own hair but the manes of their horses. The same historian tells that the Ayrans, being defeated by the Lacedaemonians, made a sacrifice of their locks, and vowed that they would remain shorn as long as they had not reconquered Thyra.

At Sparta, Lycurgus had decreed the wearing of long hair; but this law, to which Plutarch alludes, was never much obeyed. The Spartans, when they attained their sixteenth year, did as the young Athenians, and burned their hair upon the altar of either Diana or Mars. The fact is, all the barbarians who used to come from across the seas in those times wore flowing locks, and the Greeks had no wish to resemble them, says the Boston Traveller. Our primitive ancestors, the Britons, and like them, the Gauls, allowed their hair to grow undisturbed. It often reached below the waist, and men like Caractacus must have looked curious. Conquered by the Romans, the Gauls and Britons were ignominiously clipped. In his enumeration of the Gallic tribes led into captivity by Caesar, Lucian speaks of the Ligures, "now shorn, but ere while possessed of an abundant mass of hair." Those of the Gauls who obtained their liberation hastened to let their hair grow again; in order the more to mark the importance they attached to flowing locks they took to shaving their slaves.

In France when a nobleman was convicted of any felonious offense the razor was invariably applied to his pate. Cloatare I, King of France, caused his own son, Gondebald, to be shorn for conspiring against him; and, by way of adding to the disgrace of his sentence, he immediately afterwards issued an edict condemning to the severest penalties any one who should by stealth or violence cut off the hair of an honest man. The hair question assumed disquieting proportions in France, for in the year 1301 Pierre Lombard, Archbishop of Paris (whose head left much to be desired in the matter of capillary adornment), was prevailed upon by the malcontents to become their champion. He was a learned and good man, and no doubt he had often pondered upon the unseemly appearance of his close-clipped crown in the silence of the cloister, until he came to the conclusion that a man determined to win.

The King of France at that time was the gallant Philip II., generally known as Philip Augustus. After giving the matter his most attentive consideration, he signed the charter of capillary liberty, at about the same time his royal compeer, John of England, was making a dismal face over the charter of Runnymede.

Generally speaking, the English follow French in the matter of personal adornment, but in this case the English were beforehand. So early in the reign of Henry II. our piebald forefathers had obtained exemption from the obligation of having their hair cut, and they obtained it without much ado.

I hear nothing more about short hair until the sixteenth century. From the time of Philip Augustus to that of Francis I. every one, lord or lumpkin, let his hair fall down his back.

Historians and chroniclers speak a great deal about curls and ornaments that were used by the wealthy nobles of the middle ages, and it appears to have been a pretty prevalent custom to powder one's locks with gold dust.

Every one knows how long hair and short hair had a marked political significance during the reign of Charles I. against the Pretender. It was no joke then to be caught with bristles in Prince Rupert's camp, and to have come with curling locks under Cromwell's eye would have been to run the risk of being sent, not to the hair, but to the headquarter's.

Charles II. brought back the fashion of long cavalier locks, but these were soon superseded by the towering wigs introduced by Louis XIV. He had a very poor head of hair, thin, lank, and of a dirty buff color, and his barber devised a most voluminous wig to meet the emergency. The fashion remained in use until the middle of Louis XIV's reign, when it gave way to the famous powdered wig. The great republic swept away the wigs and many of the heads that were in them. It was then that the wig fashion came for better, high and low, and lasted long enough to be remembered by some men of the present day. Napoleon I. mercilessly cut off the pig-tails of his republican soldiers, and nearly caused a mutiny among the army of Egypt by so doing. Similarly, immense discontent was excited in the British navy when the Admiral abolished the pigtail some seventy years ago. So we come down to the present time, when we gratify our individual tastes in the matter of our heads of hair, unless, indeed, we are private soldiers or paupers or have the pest for better or for ill, when, for the general good, we must yield to sanitary cropping laws.

A MODEST DRUMMER

The Anonymous Predicament in Which He Was Placed by a Sneak-Thief.

Will Hansard, a traveling salesman of Louisville, was once upon a time pursuing his calling in Bell and Harlan counties, Ky. These two counties are the most mountainous and thinly inhabited in the State. Just before starting back to Louisville he passed the night at a farm-house in Harlan. When he went to bed he hung his trousers on a chair near the window. Next morning the trousers were gone and no one knew where. Some one passing in the night had reached into the window and taken them, for his host was above suspicion.

Mr. Hansard called loudly for the farmer, expecting to borrow a pair of trousers from him. His wife came to the door and said that her husband had gone hunting an hour before, and as he had only one pair of trousers, he had very naturally worn them. Here was a dilemma, but his hostess, who was a woman of expedients, solved it. She came to the door with one of her Mother Hubbards and suggested that the drummer put it on. He consented. She dressed the garment to him and closed the door. He got into the Mother Hubbard, went out to the stable, hitched up his team, and climbed into his buggy. Here he took the garment off and handed it back to the lady, who was full of sympathy for him. The buggy conveyed his lower extremities, and he wrapped his linen duster around them to keep them warm.

Mr. Hansard drove quickly to the nearest store, about four miles away, expecting to buy a pair of trousers there, for all the country stores kept ready-made clothing. When he got there he found numerous ladies who had congregated to see the opening of some new goods. He could not leave the buggy, but he yelled for the proprietor to come out, and to him he made known his predicament. The merchant brought to him five or six pairs of trousers. He drove down into a neighboring hollow, tried them on, found a pair to fit him, and thus his tribulations were ended.

How to Prevent Accidents

The Builder and Wood-Worker remarks that many of the losses of fingers and hands sustained by operatives of small saws in factories could be obviated by following what is called the golden rule: "Never put your hand back of a running saw." The rule is simple, but it is not always followed. A man can never afford to get careless around a saw or any cutting tool. Precautions against accidents could be taken to much greater extent than they are.

Railway Insurance.

The railway insurance known as a "Meda-war" system, already practiced on the continent, is likely to come into operation in England. The ticket, for which no charge is made beyond the usual railway fare, will be a sort of wallet, and besides an insurance policy, will contain a map of the journey, a hotel directory, and theatrical and other advertisements.

Rapid Improvement.

Escondido, San Diego county, Cal., three years ago had two small shanties called school houses, accommodating less than a score of children, and about one-half of them half-breed Indians. There are now six substantial modern school houses, beside the $75,000 seminary of the University of Southern California, now open, with resident professors and a class of thirty students.
